

LARRY KING LAW LANGLEY SPEEDWAY

2019 ENDURO DIVISION DASH FOR CASH

Larry King Law's Langley Speedway and The Parts Barn are excited to announce a new prize program for the Parts Barn Enduro division called Parts Barn Dash for Cash. Each race a driver will have the chance to win some extra money if they are able to take home the checkered flag. This is sure to add a new level of excitement to the races and we look forward to crowning the first Parts Barn Dash for Cash winner.

How it works:

At all Parts Barn Enduro races in 2019, the starting positions will be determined with a pill draw. Once the starting positions have been determined the pills will be returned to the officials and one additional pill will be pulled. The car associated with the new pill will then be entered for into the Dash for Cash that evening. If the competitor is able to win the race, they will win the prize money and the challenge will be over. If the competitor does not win the event for that night, the pool money will transfer to the next race night and increase by $150 and will continue to do so until a winner is crowned. Once the prize money reaches a balance of $800, two additional pills will be drawn and 2 competitors will be eligible to race in the Dash for Cash to win the prize money. However, the prize money will be divided in half should one of the two competitors win the race. They will win $400. The remaining prize money of $400 will restart the prize money for the following week. If the prize money reaches a balance of $1,200, three additional pills will be drawn, and three competitors will be eligible to race for a portion of the prize money. If one of those competitors win the race, the prize money will be divided in thirds and the Dash winner will receive an additional $400. The remaining $800 in prize money will be carried over to the following week. If a winner is crowned on a weekend where the prize money is less than $800 then the Dash for Cash will be over until a restart date has been chosen.
