BOJANGLES UCARS Q1 ADVISORS INVESTMENT SHOWDOWN RULES

Larry King Law's Langley Speedway is excited to announce that another company has stepped up to sponsor another great challenge series for one of our weekly divisions; the Bojangles UCARS. Q1 Advisors, a financial investment firm from Virginia Beach will be sponsoring the last UCAR race of the year; the race will be longer in distance and will have a $2500-dollar purse!

How it works:

This race will follow the regular UCAR rules and will be run on the track tires. In order to compete for the money in the last race of the year, a driver must "invest" in the series. Drivers will only be able to compete for the big money if they compete in five other UCAR events throughout the season. Those five races can be at any time throughout the season. Once they have competed in five races you will then be eligible for the bigger purse at the end of the year. If a driver who has not competed in five events in 2019 chooses to compete in the Investment Showdown then they will only be eligible to earn the standard UCAR purse.

In addition to this, Q1 Financial Advisors will be providing additional prizes that will be awarded to the drivers in the top ten in points at the season ending banquet. The prizes will be randomly drawn by the competitors so your performance on the track does not hinder your ability to get some great items at the banquet, more details about the prizes will be released at a later date.
